The Conrad Wicker Barstool blends refined structure with woven detail, creating a bar-height silhouette that feels both airy and composed. Its gently curved wicker backrest introduces texture and visual openness, offering supportive contact while allowing the design to remain light and unobtrusive. The streamlined frame and balanced proportions give the stool a clean, architectural presence well suited to modern interiors.

Designed for comfort and durability in dining and hospitality environments, the contoured seat supports relaxed, upright seating, while an integrated metal footrest adds stability and everyday functionality. The Conrad Wicker Barstool delivers a thoughtful balance of craftsmanship and modern restraint, making it an inviting choice for bars and counters that value texture, comfort, and refined simplicity.
