The Hayes Armchair showcases a sculptural wood frame paired with a gently curved upholstered back and seat. Defined by clean lines and subtle shaping, the exposed arms extend seamlessly from the structure, creating a balanced profile that feels both architectural and inviting. The floating backrest detail introduces visual lightness while maintaining supportive comfort.

Designed for upright seating, the cushioned seat and contoured back provide ease during extended use. Tapered legs and integrated arm supports reinforce the chair's stability while contributing to its streamlined silhouette.
